NINETEENTH YEAR

GETTYSBURG, PA., TUESDAY MARCH 8th, 1921.

PRICE THREE CENTS

IN JAIL 5 YEARS FOR THEFT OF $4

Case of John H. Cromer, Straban Township, An Unusual One.

HAD WEAKNESS FOR EGGS

Crippled Prisoner Was Not Sent to Eastern Penitentiary When He Broke Parole. Released Monday.

After serving five years in the Adams county jail for stealing one revolver worth $2, one fountain pen worth $1 and three dozen eggs worth $1, John H. Cromer, Straban township, was discharged by the court during his Monday session.

His case is a most unusual one.

More than five years ago Cromer was paroled from the Eastern penitentiary where he had been sent for petty larceny. Returning to Adams county for a while he then went to near Frederick, Maryland, and procured work at a lime kiln. One day while sitting near a lime kiln he fell asleep to be rudely awakened when some of the hot lime burned his leg. The burn proved so serious in fact that Cromer was rushed to the Frederick hospital where his leg was amputated.

Once more Cromer returned to Adams county and once more he was arrested for larceny. His weakness seemed to be for eggs as the charge against him included "about three dozen eggs." In the first charge he was wanted for taking "a lot of eggs."

The warrant for arrest was issued to Charles H. Wilson, county detective, January 3, 1916, on oath of George E. Stallsmith, Straban township, step-father of Cromer. The defendant was held in $100 bail for a hearing March 27, 1916, when he was committed to jail. April 26 he entered a plea of guilty.

On account of the man being crippled and in general poor health at the time the court desired to show leniency and did not send him to the Eastern penitentiary again. Instead he was placed in jail under supervision of the sheriff.

For five years Cromer remained in jail until Monday, when the court ordered his release on assurance of George Stallsmith that he would look after him.

THINK WOMAN SAW MURDER

Bowler Not Alone When Miller Was Killed, Say Police.

Despite the fact that the confession of J. A. Bowler, of Lynchburg, Virginia, relative to the Garfield H. Miller murder, stated that he (Bowler) was alone with Miller at the time the crime was committed, the Hagerstown as well as the Martinsburg authorities discredit that particular part of the confession and are of the belief that a woman was present and in the car at the time and that she was the motive for the crime.

It is known that the Martinsburg authorities were in Hagerstown recently since Bowler confessed for the purpose of obtaining information or the throwing of some light upon the possibility of a woman being mixed in the case. Several clues, it was stated, have so far been uncovered that point to a woman's participation.

COMMUNITY HOME MOVEMENT GROWS

Three Combined Committees Will Procure Tentative Plans For Building.

WANT APPROVAL OF ALL

Legion, Chamber of Commerce And Citizens Will Be Asked to Give Sanction. Post Acts April 4.

Plans for the proposed community house in Gettysburg assumed a more definite aspect at the initial March meeting of the Albert Lentz American Legion post Monday night when the three previously appointed committees were authorized to draw up tentative plans of the building.

Clyde L. Bream, Earl Stallsmith, Peter McCallion and John W. Hartman, of the American Legion; Dr. E. H. Markley, Professor Walter D. Reynolds, Roy E. Zinn, Rev. Harry Daniels and Rev. Paul Pontius, representing the citizens and high school alumni; Allen B. Plank, Ward Stallsmith, John W. Brehm and Roy P. Funkhouser, of the Chamber of Commerce, are the men who compose these three committees. Wednesday night at 8 o'clock they will convene in the post room with John H. Crowe, architect, to formulate a plan of the proposed building. This plan will be submitted for acceptance or rejection before the big April 4th meeting of the local Legion post.

President Funkhouser, of the Chamber, will later bring the plans before the entire Chamber of Commerce for approval or disapproval while the citizens or high school committee said they would attend to procuring the sanction of the public.

"In fact the approval of the public is assured right now," said Professor Reynolds in addressing the forty assembled Legionnaires and committee-men. "Every man and woman in Gettysburg, I am sure, will back a movement being pushed by the American Legion, the high school alumni, their own citizens and the Chamber of Commerce."

Throughout the session the post commander called on expressions of opinion from practically all of the committee-men present. Enthusiasm for a building of such import to Gettysburg ran high among the Legionnaires who loudly applauded the words of Rev. Harry Daniels and Mr. Reynolds. During the hour and a half of discussion there was not one dissenting voice lifted against the proposed community house.

Nothing definite has been decided as yet concerning the size or location of

FIRST CABINET MEETING

Withdrawal of Troops From Germany Discussed.

(By Associated Press) Washington, Mar. 8.—The Panama Costa Rican situation, the question of withdrawing American troops from the Rhine, and the legislative program of including a special session of Congress are understood to have been among a long list of subjects discussed by President Harding and his cabinet today at their first formal meeting. Vice-President Coolidge attended at President Harding's invitation.

No announcement followed the meeting but the general understanding was that the question of a troop withdrawal from Germany occupied a large place in the discussion and that some indication of the policy of the administration might be expected soon.

BUTCHERS ARE AGAINST WAGE CUT

Packers Have Announced 12 1-2 Per Cent Decrease. Oppose Ten-Hour Day.

(By Associated Press)

Chicago, March 8.—Wage decreases of approximately 12½ per cent affecting more than 100,000 workers of the packing industry in all parts of the country were officially announced today. The reductions are effective March 14.

At same time there will be a revision of the working hours and time and one half for over time paid only after ten hours labor in any one day or after 54 hours in any one week.

A declaration that the packers are looking for a strike and there is no doubt that they will get one if they insist on their proposal to return to the ten-hour day was made today by Dennis Lane, secretary of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butchers Workers' Union when informed of the action announced by the packers.

Mr. Lane said that if it really was necessary for the packers to reduce wages in order to do business employees would be willing to come half way in any proposal that was made in a fair and just way.

He was convinced, however, he said, that workers will never consent to the "anti-detritian ten-hour day," adding: "We will not accept a wage reduction unless it goes before some fair tribunal or umpire."

CHARGES HELL HOLES OF BOOZE

Writer in Church Messenger Paints Dark Picture of Local Conditions.

POLICE HAVE BEEN TOLD

Stills in Operation, Too. Trucks Unload Cargoes in Daylight. Says Men Have Money Who Never Work.

Charging the existence of "regular hell holes of booze" in the vicinity of the new hospital and alleging that stills are located in Gettysburg, The Messenger, the monthly publication of the St. James Lutheran Church, edited by Dr. J. B. Baker, for March contains an article, dealing with the attempts being made in Harrisburg to amend the Brooks High License law, that has local touches.

Not only is bootlegging rampant, the writer says, but "officers have been informed about it and know it."

"Trucks stop in front of the houses in broad daylight, yelling and fighting go on all night and fellows who never work a stroke have their pockets full of money," the article adds.

"One of our York street residents paddles it out Steinwehr avenue every day to look after his still. One of our leading hotels is said to have one working in the cellar."

"It is high time we decent law respecting people of the state send word to our representatives in Harrisburg and tell them what the sentiment of the majority of their constituents is."

"We don't want regulations for a dead lion, we want stones for snakes; a law that will compel state officers and state courts to take a hand in the business of enforcement and make the scoundrels who defy the law to quit their damnable underground work or take an iron tonic."

In speaking of the passage of the Federal prohibition amendment, and its enforcement, the writer says:

"This amendment, of course, will not automatically accomplish its purpose, there are too many outlaws interested in the stuff prohibited. The Federal government therefore passed an enforcement law and gave the several states authority to pass concurrent enforcement laws, making it compulsory upon state officers and state courts to take a hand in cleaning out the stills and the swills. Many states have passed laws modeled after the Volstead law."

"The Pennsylvania law makers are now in Harrisburg with that proposition."

ALLIES OCCUPY GERMAN CITIES

No Unpleasant Outbreaks Mars Progress of Troops Taking Over Industrial Region.

POPULATION IS WARNED

Forces of Allied Nations Push Into Three Municipalities. French Offer to Aid in Better Workers' Condition.

(By Associated Press)

French Military Headquarters, Mayence, Germany, March 8.—Occupation of the additional German territory which the Allies had announced they would take possession of as one of the penalties for Germany's failure to keep the Allied reparations demands was carried out today. No unfriendly incident marked the move of the Allied groups as far as reports up to a late hour showed.

The occupation of the city of Dueseldorf the largest of the cities taken over by the Allies, was completed this morning and that of Duesburg and Ruhrort, comprising together the chief centers of the Ruhr coal and industrial region were occupied this afternoon.

The entire movement was effected in a way to obviate so far as possible a show of force but the French and British flotillas were prepared for eventualities.

At Dueseldorf the inhabitants were warned in a proclamation by the Mayor against taking a provocative attitude toward the Allied forces.

After the occupation of Dueseldorf, General Detoutte, commander-in-chief of the French forces issued a proclamation to its people in which he declared the occupation was not a measure of hostility against the population but one intended to compel the government of Germany to carry out its obligations. No obstacle would be laid against the carrying on of economic life of the people, he declared, and the Allied authorities were ready to aid the workers in improving their conditions especially as regarding provisions.

STOCK REPORT

Market Improved At Start But Cancellations Follow.

(By Associated Press)

New York, March 8.—The stock market improved within the first half hour this morning, when shorts covered hurriedly in General asphalt and Mexican petroleum, the former advancing 2 points and the latter 1½. More moderate gains were made by Chandler, Studebaker, Crucible and International paper. This advantage became more reactionary, United fruit falling 4 points to 98½, a new low record. Food shares also were adversely affected. Among the inactive issues declines of 1 3-4 points by Remington typewriter, and 4½ by Mackay Company were noteworthy. Heaviness in Reading first and second preferred were the only striking features among rails. Exchange on London reflected latest developments in the foreign situation, but call money was again offered at seven per cent.

PARTY LEADERS WITH HARDING

President Host of Congressmen at Dinner in White House.

EXPLAINS HIS POLICY

Taxation And Tariff Present Pressing Tasks. All Representatives of Party Gathered to Hear Problems.

Washington, March 8—Opinions about the tasks of the coming special session of Congress were exchanged between President Harding and the ranking leaders of his party in Senate and House last night at a White House dinner inaugurating the new Chief Executive's policy of consultation among public officials.

A score of Senators and Representatives, including chairmen of the committees which are expected to have most to do in the special session, were in the group invited to the dinner. It was understood that the principal subjects on which Mr. Harding sought a comparison of views were the tariff and taxation program, the question of a peace resolution, disarmament, and the date for which the session should be called.

At the dinner places of precedence were occupied by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, Republican Senate leader, and Representative Mondell of Wyoming, Republican leader of the House. Also among those invited were Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, and Representative Fordney of Michigan, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee. These are the two committees which will frame tariff and tax legislation.

To speak regarding the plan for passage of a peace resolution the President invited not only Senator Lodge, who is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, but Representative Porter of Pennsylvania, chairman of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs, and Senator Knox of Pennsylvania, author of such a resolution which the President is understood to have endorsed in substance. Another name on the list of guests which attracted particular attention was that of Senator Johnson of California, the former Progressive party leader and candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination. The other guests chosen by Mr. Harding for his first formal legislative conference were Senators Curtis of Kansas, Warren of Wyoming, Cummins of Iowa, Wadsworth of New York and Poindexter of Washington, and Representatives Mann of Illinois, Longworth of Ohio, Kelley of Michigan, Anthony of Kansas, Slomp of Virginia, Campbell of Kansas, Fess of Ohio, Towner of Ohio and Winslow of Massachusetts. Most of those on the list are chairmen of important committees.

DID NOT AGREE ON CUT

New York, March 8—New York Central Railroad officials and representatives of common labor employed by the system failed today to reach an agreement at a conference called to discuss proposed reductions in the pay of unskilled workmen. The railroad proposed cuts ranging from 13 to 20 cents an hour effective April 1. Declining to accept them the labor representatives said they would discuss the matter with the men. Another conference on the subject was set for March 22.

LIVING UP TO HIS OBITUARY

By Dr. William E. Barton
I knew in his later years a ship-captain who began his career by running away from home and going to sea. His ship was wrecked, and most of the crew were lost. He was picked up by a sailing vessel and went around the Horn. It was more than a year before he saw his home in New England. His shipmates had reported him as dead, and they told the best story they could about his courage and his character. A memorial service was held in the local church, and the minister said all the comforting things his conscience would permit. The local paper printed the sermon almost in full. The mother of the supposed lost boy clipped all the good things that were said about her son and pasted them into her scrap-book. Mothers have a habit of doing that. One day this man turned up. The memories of his shipwreck had grown dim. If at the time they had touched him with solemnity, that feeling was gone. He had come back home in anticipation of a high old time. But he read his mother's scrap-book, and thought the matter over. He determined to be as good a man living as people had believed him dead. And he did it. There are many people whose funeral sermon I should like to preach a good many years earlier than I actually preach it. That is to say, I should like the privilege of telling them how people would like to think of them after they are dead, and then give them a chance to live up to their obituary. That is one unfortunate thing about obituaries; they usually come too late to induce their subjects to live up to them. There are men who will read this article who some day are going to put some minister in a very tight place. He will wish to say good things. Every impulse of fair play toward a man who cannot answer back and of consideration for his family and friends tends to prejudice him in favor of the memory of the dead man. Let me request my readers not to make it too hard for the preacher. Try now to live up to your obituary.

JAPAN AGREED WITH PROVISIO

Accepted On Condition That Subjects Did Not Encounter Discrimination.

Washington, D. C., March 8—Japan accepted the mandate for former German possessions in the Pacific, north of the equator, including the Island of Yap, with the reservation that Japanese citizens should not be subjected "to a discriminatory and disadvantageous treatment" in other mandated territories.

This was disclosed in the complete text of the mandate granted Japan by the League of Nations, obtained yesterday at the State Department. The reservation stipulated by Japan was similar to one advanced by the American Government in reference to Mesopotamia, in its recent note to the League of Nations, in which exception also was taken to the declaration in the preamble of the mandate that it was conferred in accordance with an agreement between "the principal Allies and associated Powers."

The United States has maintained that it was never a party to the agreement by which Yap was conferred upon Japan, and it has also insisted upon equal commercial opportunities for all nationals in the mandated territories. Japan's contention for equal opportunities is understood to apply particularly to the mandated territories south of the equator in the Pacific awarded Australia.

FAIL IN EFFORT TO LOOT BANK

Second Attempt Made to Dig In to Vault of Hagerstown Company.

For the second time within the last year robbers attempted to enter the Commercial Trust Company office, in Hagerstown. Gaining entrance to the building by climbing through a window, the robbers secured access to the rear of the bank.

A pointed crowbar and a 25-pound hammer were used to break through the brick wall of the bank, a hole in which was made 18 inches wide. The hole leads to the lavatory of the bank, but it would have been necessary to open the large vaults before money could be secured.

The attempted robbery was discovered by a clerk when he opened the bank. The cashier was notified and an investigation was conducted. Nothing had been disturbed by the thieves, and it is thought they were frightened off before their job was completed.

The back wall of the bank forms one wall of the Ramacciotti Building, and the hole made by the intruders is only a few feet from where thieves made an unsuccessful attempt to enter the bank less than a year ago. The old hole was filled and reinforced with brick and cement.

SID HATFIELD IS FIGHTING HARD

Bank Clerk Witness Declares Warrant For Him Was Forged.

MAN ON STAND ACCUSED

Another Witness Testifies Felts, The Detective, Fired First Shots. Declares Sleuth Fired at Mayor.

Williamson, W. Va., March 8—In the Matewan battle trial yesterday "Dutch" Roehrer, a miner, told the jury that while he had taken no part in the battle in which 10 men were killed, he was shot twice. He said one of the detectives shot him.

Dan Chambers, a bank clerk, formerly of Matewan, testified that the warrant presented as the original one that A. C. Felts had for the arrest of "Sid" Hatfield was a forgery. He told the jury that the signature on the warrant, "R. R. Stafford," was forged. He said he was familiar with the magistrate's signature, because it had passed through his hands at the Matewan bank many times.

On cross-examination, S. B. Avis, of counsel for the state, asked Chambers if he had not assisted in preparing the alleged warrant.

ACCUSES CLERK OF FORGERY

"No, sir, I didn't have anything to do with it," the witness replied. "As a matter of fact, Mr. Chambers, you put that signature, 'R. R. Stafford,' on that warrant and wrote it in lead pencil," continued Mr. Avis. "I never saw that warrant until I saw it here," Chambers insisted.

When counsel for the state asked Chambers to write Stafford's signature as he remembered it, the defense objected. The witness, however, wrote the name, but cross-examination was stopped until further specimens of Chambers' handwriting could be obtained.

SAYS FELTS FIRED FIRST

The first two shots fired in the battle came from the pistol in the hands of A. C. Felts, N. H. Atwood, another witness of the day, testified. Atwood, a former defendant in the present case, told the jury that while Felts and Mayor C. C. Testerman were discussing the warrant for Hatfield, Felts nodded to his men, and then fired at Testerman. He then turned and fired into the door of a hardware store. Both Felts and Testerman were killed in the fight.

FIRED AT MAYOR

Dan Chambers testified that he was in the hardware store while Felts and Testerman were standing outside near the door talking about the warrant. Testerman said the warrant was bogus, Chambers told the jury, and Felts "jerked a gun from his right hip" and fired at the Mayor. There was another shot from outside the store, he added, and then "Sid" Hatfield, standing in the doorway on the outside, pulled his pistol.

EMPLOYERS ALSO STRIKE

Washington, March 8—When employees at the Keeley coal mine, Dugger, Indiana, twenty of them go on strike the employers, 37 of them and also working miners, strike too. The whole job comes to a stop until the executive board of the Miners' Union arbitrates the dispute.

For the Keeley mine is a cooperative partnership affair, operating the property under lease. The thirty-seven are the partners and the twenty "day men" are employed by the thirty-seven. And J. J. Bourquin of the Bureau of Mines, in a report, asserts the Keeley mine is one of the few similar properties "being operated successfully on a cooperative basis." A majority of attempts previously had resulted in "utter failure," he said, but the success for the Keeley mine plan after eight years is marked and the partners are planning purchase of the property.

The following school directors were pall bearers: Calvin Sanders, Oliver Mickley, William Johnson, Joseph Musselman, Clark Marshall and James Marshall.

The school board of Hamilton township met on Saturday and appointed Theodore A. Low secretary, and also appointed William Johnson one of the directors to serve until the coming election.

Messrs. John Cease, John Bierly, Arch Marshall and Elmer Bigham made a business trip to Hagerstown recently.

Mr. and Mrs. James Musselman attended the funeral of John Weikert, McKnightstown, on Monday.

GENERAL WOOD TO PHILIPPINES

Will Study Situation And Report As to Fitness For Independence.

Washington, March 8—Major Gen. Leonard Wood has been detailed, at the request of President Harding, to go to the Philippine Islands to make a study of conditions there in the light of Philippine aspirations for independence.

The mission was formally entrusted to General Wood at a conference yesterday between him and the President, at which Secretary Weeks of the War Department also was present. It was decided that such a plan was preferable to Mr. Harding's original plan to make the General governor of the islands.

DESIRED TO REMAIN IN ARMY

In making the original offer of the Philippine governorship to General Wood, Mr. Harding is understood to have been moved primarily by a desire to obtain full information about the details of Philippine conditions. It is believed that General Wood himself made the suggestion that he could conduct the inquiry more effectively by retaining his rank in the army than by leaving it to accept a civil appointment as governor.

Yesterday's decision was announced by Secretary Weeks, who issued this statement at the White House after leaving the conference-room:

"The President is not unmindful of the change of policy recommended by his predecessor in dealing with the Philippines. He is anxious to settle definitely our policy and has asked General Wood, because of his extended experience there, to go to the islands and report conditions as he may find them."

tion before them. It is the biggest thing they will have to consider at this session. Already the old rum crowd is lobbying about in the Capitol and trying to persuade the Legislature to amend the Brooks High License Law. Could anything be more idiotic than that?

"The Brooks High License law is a law to regulate a traffic which the nation has outlawed. What's the use of trying to regulate what has been prohibited? All you dare make in the United States now is 1/2 of 1 per cent and that doesn't need any more regulation than your wife's soap suds on Monday morning. What's the use of keeping guard over a lion's cage after the lion has been dragged out dead. His tail whiskers won't hurt anybody."

"Regulation and Prohibition have nothing in common and we might as well hammer it into the heads of the distillers, the brewers and the saloonists now as later."

"What we need at once is the strongest kind of a state enforcement law, with a search and seizure clause attached."

POWER TO SCAN BANK CHARTERS

Right to Investigate Before Incorporation. Have Framed State Fair Bill.

Provisions that will give the State Department of Banking greater authority over incorporation of banking concerns will be placed in the banking code which the State Commission in charge of revision of banking laws will send before the Legislature. For some years there have been a number of State banks organized by promoters who appear to have done well and the power of the State to inquire into the antecedents of a bank organization will be enlarged.

This bill is to be presented to the Legislature in the week of March 21 and will be introduced by Chairman James A. Walker, of the House Committee on Banks and Banking, who is a member of the Commission. The bill will be the most complete codification of the banking laws ever made in the State and include not only the department act of 1919, but the series of acts covering private banks.

Final touches are being given to the bill providing for establishment of a State Fair Commission and among the provisions will be for the Governor and Secretary of Agriculture to be members of the board to select the site. The Governor will name the rest of the commissioners. Secretary of Agriculture Fred Rasmussen has had charge of the drafting of the bill, which was advocated by the Governor in his address to the Legislature.

LOSE GAS COMPLAINT

Rate of Service in York Will Not Be Changed.

"Although respondent appears to be in a good financial condition, as a public utility it should not be expected or required to bear all the burden which materially increased costs imposed and it is proper that a reasonable part thereof may be collected through increased rates," says the Public Service Commission in dismissing complaint of the City of York against the York Gas Company. The commission calls attention to the fact that the company had to face an increased cost and that the city abandoned the complaint to all intents and purposes after the company had filed a new tariff which made a reduction of about $12,000 in gross receipts.

The Commission in closing says the rates now are not excessive and "if in the future a further decline in prices warrants a reduction in respondent's rates, it should make a corresponding decrease therein."

OPENING PRACTICE ON NIXON FIELD

Appearance of Coach Ira Plank is Sure Sign of Spring.

Spring has come. Out on Springs avenue they know it is springtime when they see the dandelions begin to bloom. On Baltimore street the residents are aware of the approach of balmy weather when they observe lonely looking couples strolling through the cemetery and down "Lovers Lane". York street inhabitants depend upon the sight of street filled marbled players and the noise of Lincoln Highway automobilists to inform them of the joyous season.

Those signs of spring have their qualities of certainty and are staunchly upheld by the residents of those three sections of town. The north enders claim they have the surest sign of all, however, and that is the appearance on Nixon field of the portly figure of Ira Plank, juggling with him his battered satchel of baseballs. After descending from his wheezing "Pierce Arrow", Ira looks first at the heavens above him for signs of rain, and then trods heavily upon the diamond to see if it reveals an imprint of his ponderous hoof.

Yes, spring has come for sure. Why? Monday afternoon Ira made his initial trip to Nixon field accompanied by seventy five ambitious ball tossers. This was the largest squad of candidates on record and incidentally the earliest opening practice in Ira's nine year career at the institution.

"There were so many ball players out there," said Coach Plank in his first official interview of the season, "that I couldn't hardly find room to stand."

COUNT ON BILL STAIR

Veteran Hurler Will Pitch For Frostburg This Summer.

Bill Stair, one time Gettysburg hurler, is counted upon by baseball fans in Frostburg, Maryland, as their leading 1921 hurler.

Countless lines have been written in eulogy of this same Stair who is widely known among the diamond followers of southern Pennsylvania and Western Maryland. Although he possesses sufficient ability to perform in high class minor leagues, Bill prefers to play in the sticks where he can throw his "mud ball" to his heart's content.

Here it is 1921. Ten years ago Bill was a promising pitcher. But ten years have passed and pretty soon the bleacher fans will be shouting "Why there goes Old Bill Stair. He played in Gettysburg with Old Bill Clay who is dead and buried these many years."

Uncle Walt's Story

Walt Mason

IRONIES OF LIFE

"TOMUELSON made a talk to the Commercial club, on 'Business Efficiency,' observed the retired merchant, 'and the next day his store was closed by the sheriff.'"

"Life is full of such ironies, doggone it," said the hotel-keeper. "Low down jokes are being played on the best of us, almost every day, and I often wonder what sort of an evil genius is behind it all."

"I used to know a man who was a wonderful horse breaker. He used to give public exhibitions, taming man-killing brutes, and the way he could make them eat out of his hand, half an hour after being formally introduced to them, was a sight worth going miles to see. He always had immense crowds at his exhibitions, and it seemed that his future was assured. But one day he was loading around a livery stable, just because he liked the atmosphere of the place, and an old, weary hack horse reached out a long, crooked limb, banded him with it, and broke his leg."

"He had to go to a hospital for a while, and when he came out, his occupation was gone. He was as good a horse breaker as ever, but people wouldn't pay their hard-earned money to see the exploits of a conquering hero who had been manhandled by an old hack horse. You must admit that there was some sardonic intelligence back of such a joke as that. If the man had been hooked by a cow, or run over by a traction engine, or chewed up by an honest watchdog, it wouldn't have hurt his renown and prestige. But, no! A blamed old relic of a horse had to put him out of business."

"A long time ago, a very important case was tried in an Irish court. The people were greatly wrought up over it, and the courtroom was crowded. When it was announced that the jury was ready with a verdict, the judge addressed the audience, saying he knew there was much feeling over the case, but the hall of justice was no place for a display of it, and if there was a least sign of disturbance when the verdict was made known, the gull parties would be arrested."

"The jury brought in its verdict, and the people heard it in silence, but just then a whole dozzene gallery, with about a thousand people in it, came crashing down, and the noise could have been heard forty miles out at sea. After the judge's solemn warning against a disturbance, the fall of that gallery has always seemed to me like a painful joke."

"A long time ago, I was called upon to address a crowd of voters on the living issues of the day, and I framed up a speech that would have been a credit to any orator. I swiped it from Roscoe Conkling, and I have always insisted that he was one of the greatest of American speakers. The house was full of refined and cultured people, and I was determined to make the hit of my life. I was just getting warmed up to my work, when the lights went out, and the hall was plunged in black darkness. There's nothing makes a man feel more idiotic than to have the lights shut off at such a time. The women in the audience were giggling, and the men hawling. It seemed funny to everybody but me."

"I thought I knew where the little table was, that held the pitcher of ice water, and I moved toward it, and fell over a chair, and flattened my nose against the edge of a piece of scenery. When the lights were flashed on again, as suddenly as they went out, the audience beheld the silver-tongued orator on his hands and knees, climbing slowly to his feet, and trying to mold his nose into its original shape."

"I never saw such a delirious crowd in my life. Some of the women laughed themselves into hysterics, and the fool men weren't much better. They never heard the balance of that oration, and the last part was the best."

Alliteration.

Alliteration occurs sometimes in the writings of the ancients, but not, it is supposed, designedly, as they regarded all echoing of sound as a rhetorical blemish. Cicero, in the "Offices," has this phrase: "Miserum est cum quibusdam" secretly," and Virgil in the "Aeneid," has many marked alliterations. —William Matthews.

Try, Try Again.
"Lottrox was telling me that he has been trying for six months without success to get a passage to see the battlefields of France."
"Evidently the wind has changed. He spent two years trying not to see them, with success." —The American Legion Weekly.

Greatest Revenue.
The internal revenue bureau, in the fiscal year ended June 30, made the greatest annual tax collection since its establishment in 1862.

What Every American Should Know About His Country and Its Opportunities

Thomas A. Edison as a Newsboy on a Train.

THERE have been issued in this country more than one million patents for inventions and devices of more or less importance and aid to every one. The world owes the inventor a great debt, for he is one of the great benefactors of mankind. America stands high in the ranks of inventive genius. Within the last half century Americans have contributed to the world's progress more than any other nation. One of these benefactors of the human race is Thomas A. Edison, who is acknowledged by all to be the world's greatest inventor. Edison was born on his father's farm in Michigan. While a mere youth he began experimenting and before he was eleven he had gathered together a remarkable chemical "laboratory" in the basement of his home. He became a newsboy on the train running between Port Huron and Detroit, and on this train he started a laboratory, using part of the unventilated smoking car which was never used by passengers. Next he installed a printing press in the car, and actually collected, wrote, set up and printed all the news for his Weekly Herald and sold as many as 400 copies a week. A fire having occurred in Edison's laboratory on the train, an enraged conductor pitched Edison and all his belongings off, and this ended his moving laboratory.

Edison's first important invention was an improvement on a telegraphic instrument. Another one was a stock ticker, which he sold to the Western Union Telegraph Company and received the sum of $40,000. This enabled Edison to open a plant of his own in Newark, N. J., and with this equipment, he began in earnest his laboratory work, from which have come the many epoch-making inventions that have made the name "Edison" a household word. Since the establishment of this first laboratory, Edison has made several hundred inventions; two of his most widely known achievements being the perfection of the electric light and the invention of the phonograph. Untold millions have been added to the wealth of the world because of the Edison inventions, and the pleasure and joy of living have been increased many fold by the ceaseless activity of this great inventor. Although now past the age of seventy, Edison is still a tireless worker and his brain has lost none of its brilliancy.

These Women Make $25,000 a Year!

These six women are business successes. You'd consider yourself a business success, wouldn't you, if you were earning upwards of $25,000 a year? Some of the women shown here make far more than that—but every one is numbered among those making at least $25,000. Left to right, they are: Elizabeth Marbury, New York, play broker; Lillian Temple Bradley, New York theatrical scene sector; Anne Vaughn Hyatt, sculptor; Mary Roberts Rinehart, writer; Belle de Costa Greene, Morgan Librarian; Fannie Hurst, writer.

Lewis Potts is building a new garage.

MISS BONHAM SUES

Asks $100,000 Damages From York Railways Company.

Weeks, of York, have filed suits against the York Railways Company for $120,000 as redress for injuries sustained February 7, 1920, when the sleigh in which they were riding was struck by a street car operated by the company. The Kings and Queens of the Animal World!

MAN O' WAR is the world's greatest race horse and has been pronounced the prize thoroughbred in the history of the turf. Samuel Riddle, his owner, has refused $200,000 for him. Everything he eats is carefully examined and his diet is prescribed day by day by his trainer.

LADY WALNUT HILL is the best little layer this world knows. She hails from Lexington, Ky., and fastened the egg-laying crown securely on her head on Jan. 28, 1921, when her cackle announced the arrival of her 811th egg.

"POSSUM SWEETHEART" would certainly be entitled to blow her own horns—if she could. She recently smashed all records by producing 22½ times her own weight in milk, in a year's time. E. A. Stuart, proprietor of the Carleton Stock Farm near Seattle, says she's champ cow.

TEDDY is so nearly human that folks in the movies call him the king pup. You've probably seen him on the screen. He has his own dressing-room, valet and everything. He recently saved a movie actress when she was seized with cramps while in bathing. Ted's valued at $60,000.

DESIGNER is not this pig's business—it's his name. And if "this little pig went to market" you'd have to pay a young fortune for a pound of any part of him. He's valued at $50,000 by D. C. Lonsger of Omaha, his owner. Designer is the champion porker of the world.

Lame Back and Kidney Trouble

Nescopeck, Pa.—"I have never taken any medicine that helped me as much as Dr. Pierce's An-uric (anti-uric acid) Tablets. I had been troubled with kidney trouble and lame back so that I could not walk straight, and was not feeling able to do anything, but after taking the An-uric Tablets I feel like a new man. I am 67 years old and have worked right along, and give thanks to the credit for it. I would say to all that have kidney trouble, try An-uric—JACOB GOOD. An-uric is sold by all druggists, and is inexpensive."

Advertising as a Bank Asset

By FRANCIS H. Sisson,

Vice President Guaranty Trust Company of New York.

PERHAPS the most interesting development of the last ten years in advertising has been the developing of advertising by financial institutions. It was not so long ago that the banks in this country, following the examples set by the English banks and continental banks generally, looked upon advertising as undignified.

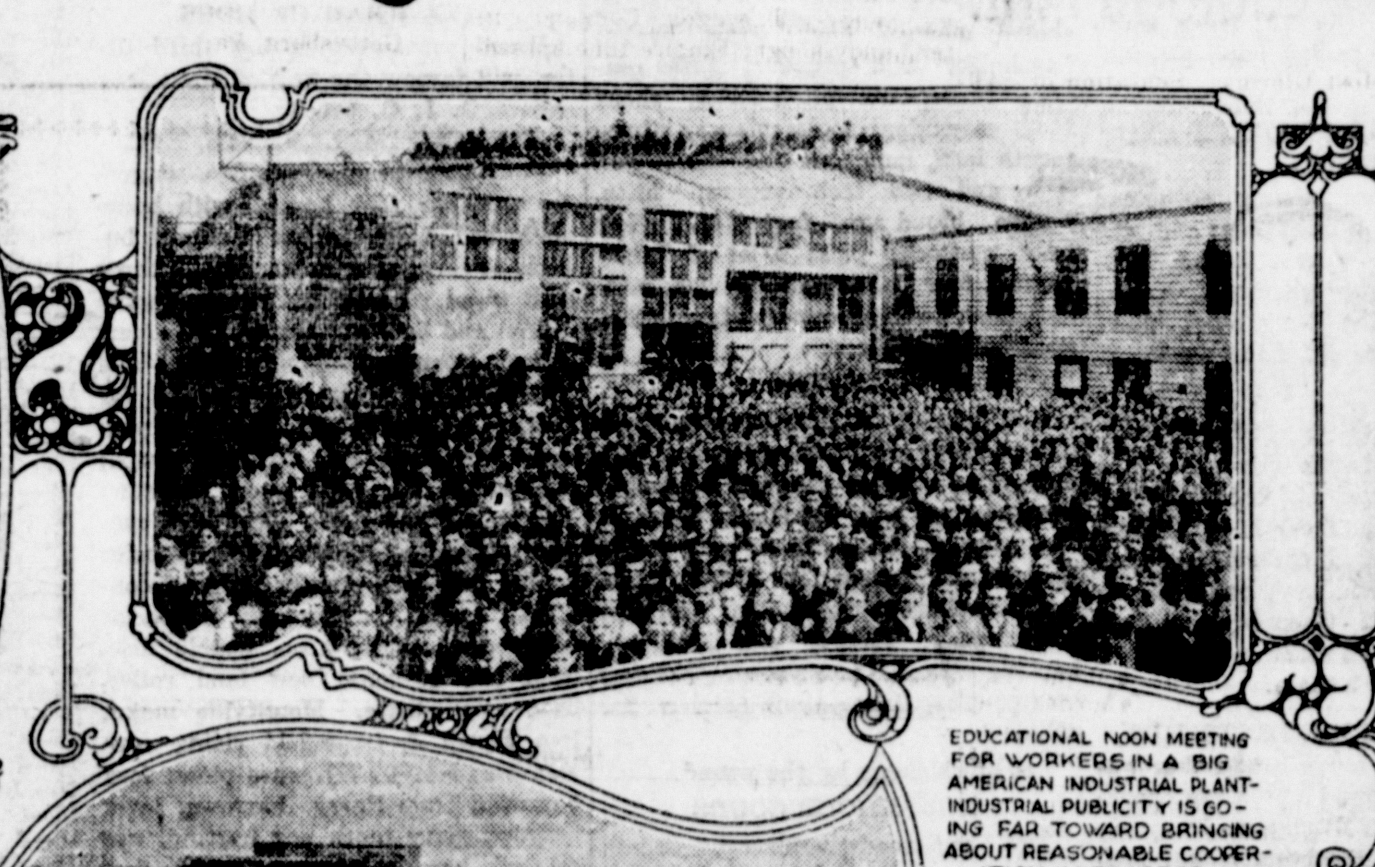

There are several institutions in New York today that spend close to half a million dollars a year in publicity of various sorts—all a development of the last five years, and it is significant that the institutions that have had that courage and vision are the institutions which are today leading the financial world both in service rendered and profits made and in growth.

Now, that is just one side of the picture which, perhaps, will give a better idea of the banking attitude towards publicity and advertising, and it is rapidly developing and has been for the last few years. But an even more significant development has been the inclusion of advertising good will as a bankable asset in the credit offices and the credit branches of every large financial institution of New York and in most of the large centers. I could cite you many instances of the visible manifestation of that state of mind. For instance, last winter a certain company was bought by a little group of bankers and refinanced. At that time there were visible assets of about five million dollars, liberally appraised, but the owners sold the business to a very conservative group of bankers for twenty-five million dollars, and in turn that group of bankers passed the business very largely on to the public, which willingly paid considerably more than twenty-five million dollars for it.

The fact is that anywhere from twenty to thirty million dollars in the final sale in that particular transaction was advertising good will, and it was treated as such by the shrewdest financiers in this country in appraising the value of that property and refinancing it for public consumption.

I might go down through the whole range of American business interests and cite many instances of the same general character. The progressive and intelligent banker today, as he sizes up the balance sheet of any institution, takes into consideration in a very large degree the earning power, the character of the men included in the organization, the ownership of the business and the prestige and good will that have been created for it by an intelligent promotion effort. Now, the institution which advertises broadly the character and quality of its goods establishes for itself a standard of production. It enters into a compact of faith with the buying public which it cannot break, and one of the great services that advertising has rendered the world and rendered this country in particular has been in the establishing of standards and ideals of service and production to which the producing corporations have had to live up to in their own manufacturing processes or in the services they rendered the public, and that has become one of the most important factors in the creation of good will values.

The banker doesn't always see this picture as I have stated it, but one of the important functions that the advertising men of the world have to serve today is to interpret these situations to their own clients on one side and to the public on the other until there is established that better understanding upon which desirable and scientifically exact business arrangements and relationships can be built.

Advertising as it is understood by the banks today has taken on a very much broader scope than a mere selling effort. A great many of them conduct very elaborate educational campaigns and approve very highly of the educational campaigns undertaken by their clients. It was my fortunate opportunity to have a hand in the creation of the first educational campaign conducted by any of the railroads in this country, and by careful cultivation of that sort of publicity and advertising effort and by harmonizing the railroad activities in the furtherance of such an effort we succeeded in having written on the statute books of the country the most progressive and helpful and constructive railroad acts that have ever been passed, and it was almost entirely the result of constructive and co-operative publicity.

And that lesson is being driven home. I had the opportunity of reading recently a report from one of the important committees of the American Bankers' Association recommending that the American Bankers' Association as an association raise a large sum of money for a three years' campaign to educate the American people upon important economic truths—first, the necessity of thrift; second, the necessity of social and political stability, and third, the service that the bank renders the community in all of its ramified efforts. Five years ago that wouldn't have been possible. It would have been laughed "out of court" if anyone had suggested it, and yet that is the serious thought of the day, and I couldn't be at all surprised to see it firmly in the course of the next year.

Now, that educational work is not altruistic entirely or even in a large part. For instance, take this railroad situation itself. The few millions of dollars that were spent in railroad publicity resulted in an increased valuation for the railroads of hundreds of millions of dollars in securities. You can see it written on the right side of the ledger of every railroad in the United States today.

I believe that advertising men in the various technical activities of the country can do a great deal in the furtherance of such productive advertising along educational lines. For instance, how closely in touch with the great labor problem and how important it is that there should be a better understanding of the elements that enter into that labor problem and how important it is that there should be a better understanding for the sake of our whole business future. It is really the crux of our business situation today, and if we could only make labor understand, as we see the picture, that all wealth is created by labor alone, as the demagogue and the professional labor leader so keen to assure us. Labor by itself originally was nothing but the caveman digging out a living with his bare hands from the herbs and fruits and savage life around him. Until brains came and directed that activity labor produced no wealth.

And so the trinity of industry to day which we ought to make labor understand and the whole industrial machine understand is the combination of labor and brains and capital which has made this country what it is. That lesson ought to be driven home from every angle and through every channel that we command. Never was it more important that those of us who touch industry at the vital spots should drive home those lessons wherever we have the opportunity.

And there is another field which is vastly important to the American people today. That is the field of foreign trade. The abysmal ignorance of the American people about the importance of export trade to their business future fairly terrifies me when I get out into the country, and get in touch with the average business man and worse than that, the wheat-raiser of the North and the cotton-grower of the South and the cattle-raiser of the far West should all be as sincerely and deeply interested in the development of our foreign markets as the industrial representatives of our business community, and we have got to drive that lesson home to the American people. We have got to make them see that American prosperity is absolutely dependent upon the protection and expansion of our foreign trade and that unless we can market our surplus production, unless we can keep the markets of the world open to our goods of every description, we are not going to have the prosperity at home to which we are entitled.

Now, the banker is willing to do his part. He has studied that situation, and he is willing to extend his credit and to go the whole length of the road, but he must have behind him the support of the business community and even more than that, the support of his government, because it is very certain that American goods will not continue to go around the world unless they are followed by the protection of the American flag.

And so it is of vast importance that there be a greater and better understanding of the importance of our relations with the rest of the world. It is very certain that the day has long since gone by when any nation or any individual can live unto itself alone. We must not only "live and let live," as we loved to say in the old days, but we have got to "live and help live," in order intelligently to help ourselves. And within the hands of those who control the channels of publicity and advertising rests a large part of this burden of education along these lines.

Reduce Those Dangerous Swollen Veins

Physicians are prescribing and hospitals are using a new and harmless, yet very powerful germicide that not only causes enlarged or varicose veins and bunches to become normal, but also reduces goiter, enlarged glands and wens.

Ask any first class druggist for an original two-ounce bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil (full strength) and refuse to accept anything in its place. It is such a highly concentrated preparation that two ounces lasts a long time and furthermore if this wonderful discovery does not produce the results anticipated, you can have the price refunded.

It is not wise for anyone to allow swollen veins to keep on enlarging! Often they burst and cause weeks of pain, suffering and loss of employment. Start the Emerald Oil treatment as directions advise and improvement will begin at once! Generous sample on receipt of 15 cents, silver or stamps. International Laboratories, Rochester, N. Y. Your druggist can supply you.

SON, YOU'RE LOOKING FINE

The Most Glorious Sensation of All Is to Get Back Into the Game.

Ask anyone whose nerves seemed to have gone to smash and the last atom of iron apparently burned out of the blood, how it feels to come back. Ask the host of men and women who have used Reolo. Here is one of the most astonishing reconstructive influences ever devised. It is a marvel for the many ways it seems to act. And it acts almost at once. Safe, harmless, of food value, yet all medicine, it seems to have almost the quality of actual intelligence. It has the power to increase flesh, it enhances the activity of the entire organism, puts iron in the blood, lots of it, increases red corpuscles enormously, takes the pallor out of the cheeks, contributes to the defense of the body against exhaustion, and intensifies the activity of the vital processes to such an extent that you not only look like a winner, you feel it from head to foot. Ask any clerk at Peoples Drug Store and any other leading drug store what a host of men and women have gained from this most wonderful reconstructive strengthener. Get a $1.00 box of Reolo today.

"FIGHTING BILL"

A big western picture of action unlimited. Who is William Fairbanks? A new star.—This is what the moving picture world said of him.

STAR—WILLIAM FAIRBANKS

Giebler, in an article in the Moving Picture World of December 25th, entitled "Rubbernecking in Film Land," in describing Bill Fairbanks, says: "If you don't know Bill you soon will, for he is a comer. He can ride, fight and shoot like a demon, and there is no man in pictures today who can outdo him in any of these stunts." We agree with Giebler, and can further add that the fight and trick shooting Bill does in this picture has never been equalled in any Western picture. You will like Bill Fairbanks because he is a natural, regular-fellow-American, just the type that has made the West what it is today.

STUNTS

The three-round boxing match shown in this picture is well worth the price of admission that any patron will have to pay for the whole show. It is full of action and you will not only see a regular boxing match but a slugging exhibition as well.

The fist fight between Bill Fairbanks and Pascal and his gang is as thrilling and bloody a fight as has ever been shown in moving pictures. You will see a shooting stunt never before attempted, i. e., slicing a card edgeways with a six-shooter at 40 paces.

These are only a few of the many stunts full of punch and action that will thrill any audience.
